Authors have to sign this exclusive license agreement, where authors have copyright but license exclusive rights in their article to the publisher. In this case authors have the right to:

1. Share their article in the same ways permitted to third parties under the relevant user license (together with scholarly rights to create certain derivative works), as long as they give proper attribution and credit to the published work.
2. Retain patent, trademark and other intellectual property rights (including raw research data).
3. Proper attribution and credit for the published work.

Rights granted to the journal Bio-Chemiae Acta and publisher Sciencegalactica.

For all of the articles, published in proprietary title, Bio-Chemiae Acta is granted the following rights:

1. The exclusive right to publish and distribute an article, and to grant rights to others, including for commercial purposes.
2. For open access articles, sciencegalactica will apply the relevant third party user license where sciencegalactica publishes the article on its relevant online platforms.
3. The right to provide the article in all forms and media so the article can be used on the latest technology even after publication.
4. The authority to enforce the rights in the article, on behalf of an author, against third parties, for example in the case of plagiarism or copyright infringement.

Declaration by the corresponding author:

I hereby declare and agree, on behalf of myself and my co-authors (if any), that:

[1] I agree to the terms and conditions of the journal BCA and the portal www.sciencegalactica.com, I also agree to the rights decided for the authors and for the portal of publisher/journal as given above.

[2] The article submitted is an original work and has neither been published in any other peer-reviewed journal nor is under consideration for publication by any other journal. In addition to it, the article does not contravene any existing copyright or any other third party rights.

[3] The article contains no such material that may be unlawful, infringe any proprietary or personal rights of others (including, without limitation, any copyrights or privacy rights); that the Work is factually accurate and contains no matter libellous or otherwise unlawful; that I/We have substantially participated in the creation of the Work and that it represents my original work adequate for me/us to claim the authorship.

[4] As the corresponding author, I also warrant that the portal www.sciencegalactica.com and the journal "BCA" including its employees will not be held liable against all copyright claims of any third party or in lawsuits that may be filed in the future, and that I will be the only person who will be liable in such cases. I also declare that if any legal action arises in future against the article submitted, only the authors of the article will be held responsible/liable against such actions.

I as a corresponding author declare that I and co-authors of the article concerned have read both pages of this agreement and I am signing this agreement only after the mutual consent of the co-authors if any.
